Targeting Solutions to Web-based Tech Companies

The world of web-based technology presents unique IT challenges. The need to adapt to the ever-evolving business requirements and rapid growth has pushed many organisations to rethink their entire IT infrastructure.

Successful, fast-growing businesses are relying on the latest technology to optimise areas such as scalable infrastructure, cost control, and performance issues. Cloud-based solutions are there to assist with such tasks, along with addressing those issues relative to regulatory compliance, IT, growth mindset, and security. These pain points are tackled by implementing a combined strategy that takes into account the needs of both open and hybrid cloud users.

- What are some of the challenges faced by fast-growing web-based technology companies?
- How are businesses currently transforming their IT environment to adapt to rapidly changing customer behaviours?
- How can identifying the right cloud model help companies succeed on their hybrid journey?
